

the proposed idea, on the first Monday of each month, how the idea is going to be there and how we are all in the group, well if someone has something special one day, then a meeting can be created for a specific topic.

But I believe that since the beginning comes from having this talk of experiences, of similar fights with a squad,.

Likewise Mario with the following squad, we have doubts, well we talk about it here, I think a little bit of that is born.

Right now I really liked what you said Guillermo, that for example I have a specific problem,.

So what is occurring to me right now based on your comment is that I can request in the chat.

and say let's see, who wants to meet with me on such a day at such a time to discuss this specific problem? And if anyone wants to give me ideas, help me..

And those who join, well now welcome, because now that you said it we can cover many things and maybe nothing.

But if everyone sets their own zoom session or request for a specific problem,.

Well, whoever wants to join at least someone with that opinion is good.

There it is, it seems perfect to me, I think we already have a sufficient number and we are putting the doubts there,.

the problems, the fights and there is the official part with Mario, which is knowledge, the source of knowledge.

and then the street level, the fight, we have it.

So that seems pretty good..

Well, then I'm going to propose my problem in the chat to see who wants to join so they can give me their contributions..

Thank you.

I already saw that I had it written down.

Thank you.
